Inspiration for the Week by Rev. Mark Suslenko

Every human being asks and answers a fundamental existential question. What happens to us when we die? The answer we provide will determine how we chart the course of our existence. It will also determine whether the Second Coming of Christ will be of any concern to us. For many, life is simply a random occurrence with no significant intention or meaning. For these people, their eventual death and the end of the earth, as they know it, has little importance beyond their personal consequences. But, for people of faith, our natural death and the Second Coming of Christ have huge implications. Our faith speaks volumes about these things and can bring a keen understanding of the direction that the secular world cannot provide. This is where the call to vigilance and the primordial virtues of faith, hope, and love become valuable and meaningful. We are works in progress that can either resist the inspirations of the Divine Artist or give in to his will's wonderful, surprising creativity.

What is the South Wing? Where is the prayer basket?

With our growing community, it may be confusing to hear some of the well-established references to locations at our St. Paul campus, such as the "South Wing" or the "Library." To help, we've highlighted a few references that you may find useful when worshipping with us. Learn more about these and other common terms at <http://isidoreandmaria.org/commonterms>.

PRAY FOR UKRAINE

"And then they will see the Son of Man coming in the clouds with great power and glory." Take a moment to ponder these words from today's Gospel. How does this image make you feel?

For people to truly understand the significance of this message, something profound must happen within. If we find ourselves reacting with dread or fear, we must step back and ask why. Our answer will reveal a great deal about our relationship with God. It's hard to fall in love with a God of whom we are afraid. God does not want us to be scared. Nor does He want us to align our wills to His to avoid some horrendous eternal consequence. That sounds like too much of a superficial power play on the part of God, who continues to seek out His children in love.

For these words to carry any significant meaning for us, they must resonate and touch us on a deeper level. They must be able to connect some dots and have meaning for us for this promise to change our lives. Sometimes, we get preoccupied with the uncertainty of our deaths. Not knowing when or how we will eventually die can be unsettling. But, more so than needing an answer to the "when" of death, the "what" of death answer we provide has more significance. What happens to us when we die? Whether we die during the natural course of our lives or when Christ comes again, the experience is the same. If we believe that we are meant to live in union with God eternally and that death completes and does not diminish us, then it is worth our time and effort to wait in vigilant hope of the Lord's coming in glory. Our journey back to God is something beautiful to be desired, not dreaded or feared.

Sadly, many believe life is a random occurrence without any purposeful direction or meaning. Death is simply death and nothing more. For them, the Second Coming of Christ and God's eternal promise have no meaning. When we understand the truth about who we are, things change. We then can see ourselves as works in progress who have the choice to either resist the inspirations of the Divine Artist or give in to the wonderful creativity of His will. Life awaiting Christ's fullness becomes an unfolding of Divine surprises and abundant joy. God is eternally merciful, forgiving, and welcoming. Only when we directly reject this gift and turn our backs on Love itself do we have anything to fear.

~ Rev. Mark Suslenko

PODCAST: Practicing God's Unconditional Love

Whether it's a family member with whom we disagree politically or a stranger on the street corner, God calls us to love one another unconditionally. But that's not as easy as it sounds in a world of contradiction, division, and disdain. Father Mark urges us to be inspired in this regard by the parable of the widow who sacrificed what little money she had as an offering to God. Listen to his latest podcast at <https://isidoreandmaria.org/podcasts>.

Loved, lost, grieved, found, and celebrated: how a child's stuffed bunny brought home to columnist M. Regina Cram an appreciation for the parable of the Prodigal Son. Read her latest column <http://isidoreandmaria.org/reginaswritings>.

Balancing Faith and Youth Sports

Many families struggle to balance faith and sports. The commitment level of today's elite youth sports culture ($30 billion in the U.S. and growing) has multiplied so much that some parents find it increasingly difficult to carve out time for faith. However, some leading Catholic athletes, coaches, and sports journalists - including Glastonbury resident and UCONN Men's Basketball Coach Dan Hurley - believe a strong faith in Jesus complements and enhances their pursuit of excellence in sports. Learn more about what they had to say at <https://isidoreandmaria.org/faithsports>.

Do You Have Historic Photos of our Churches and Rectories?

The two churches that form our parish - St. Paul and St. Augustine - have long histories in the town of Glastonbury. We are currently seeking your help in sourcing photos of our church buildings and rectories! If you have such photos that you can loan for a short period so we may scan them into our records, we would be most appreciative. We are particularly interested in photos of the St. Paul rectory from the time when it was a private residence. If you have photos to loan, please contact Carol Vassar, who can help facilitate this process. Many thanks in advance for your assistance.

Terry as Toto with Judy Garland

Toto (Terry) Born Nov. 17, 1933

Toto was played by a female brindle Cairn Terrier named Terry. She was paid a $125 salary each week, more than some human actors (the Singer Midgets who played the Munchkins reportedly received $50 to $100 a week).

Due to the movie's popularity and because the role was the one for which she was most remembered, her owner and trainer changed her official name to Toto. She appeared in 13 films, playing Rags in the Shirley Temple movie Bright Eyes (1934). She died at age 11 in 1945. Willard Carroll wrote her "autobiography," I, Toto (2001).

Oliver and I remember our famous friend Terry, who became a star! Maybe our Dad will write a book about us too! He seems to say that a lot!
